

Justin Reyes

19FA-GAM340HA

11/4/19

GNP Character Description Document

“Alice”

Name: Alice / Auarouse, Devil of Desire

Sex: Female

Race/Species: Imp (formerly a Devil), Demon

Age: 275 (272 in the prologue)

Intelligence: Advanced

Education Type and Level: Knowledge gathered from consuming a thousand souls from demon and humans, Combat experience, Fighter training, Sorcerer training, Magic Knowledge, Demon Magic Knowledge, Dark Magic Knowledge

Economic Background: N/A

Profession: Demon General

Vocabulary: Diverse

General Attitude: Smug, Self-absorbed, and sadistic. Greedy and possessive to a fault, only sees what others have and what “should” be hers. Sees no value in people that don’t have anything she wants and sees them as below insects, while at the same time seeing those with what she wants, whether money, power, or authority as vermin she’ll eventually squash. There are very few people she will see past their value to her, but will never alert them of such or change her attitude for does special few. Even so, those special individuals are very precious to her, as her “possessions”, and she would fight anyone that meant to take one of her possessions.

Background: Born as a nameless demon within the underground demon brood of Mammon, she fought and ate hundreds of her brethren and absorbed their souls to gain sapience and conciseness. From there she continued to fight amongst the demons of the underground to gather strength, magic, power, and knowledge. She began to understand the world around her, and sought knowledge and power from other, older and more powerful demons. The taught her and other strong younger demons like her about this world, he demon world, their history, and their eternal desire for vengeance. From watching, observing, and living under the more powerful demons, she began to envy their power, and desired to possess more of everything. She continued to fight amongst her brood brethren for dominance, gaining even more strength, power, and knowledge. Eventually the elder demons gave her a name after 100 years of struggling, Auarouse. But still she desired more and more. Strength, knowledge, power, feelings, objects, lovers, followers, wealth, souls. She fought and she fought, growing stronger, faster than her other brethren. After another 100 years this led to a major transformation, turning her into a Devil, one of the most powerful forms of a demon. She became known as the Devil of Desire, Auarouse. She became a major force within the Mammon brood, and was recruited by group of Arch-demons to lead demonic armies for their invasions into the surface world.

Deeper Dive

Desire: Alice desires to take and possess anything and everything she wants. Power, magic, strength, people, objects, money, knowledge, souls. A desire sprung from the envy she felt looking towards the more powerful and stronger demons in her brood as she fought to thrive in the underground. She had nothing, and wanted what they had This envy grew into a fundamental need to obtain things she finds of value as she grew and transformed as a demon. She finds great pleasure and joy in obtaining and hoarding the objects of her desire, and the more difficult her object of interest is to obtain, the more obsessed and desperate she becomes to obtain it. At a fundamental level, Alice just wants to have something that is truly hers. After surviving the battle with Samayoi by joining with his soul, she very much desired to be free, but eventually changes as time passes to wanting to use Samayoi to obtain more power and control him.

Likes: Herself, Money, profit, treasure, jewelry, stealing, looting, expensive food, high society, power, positions of power, reading, secrets, beauty, exotic animals, pieces of fine art, immoral acts, wit, banter, sarcasm, puns, lewdness, sexual innuendo, messing with Samayoi

Dislikes: Spending, thieves, idiots, fools, losing, loitering, hesitation, suspicion, uncertainty, self-doubt, humility, being proven wrong, impudence, rats

Values: Self-confidence, Power, wealth, authority, and loyalty

Key flaw(s): Alice possess an overabundance of confidence, believing she can never be wrong. This leads to many situations where she makes a wrong decision or is careless due to how sure of herself, she is. Another key flaw is her obsessiveness in seeking a thing that has taken her interest, to the point where she fixates on it and forgets about everything else around her or the situation.

Vices: Alice often indulges in displays of excessive vanity and assurance in her own value and superiority. To always feel at ease, she must always have wealth and valuable items on person and aim to obtain more.

Character Arc/Change: In the beginning, prior to linking souls with Samayoi, she only cares about herself and what she wants: to gain more wealth, power, fame, authority, and to eventually rein above every other demon. She is working under the Archdemons of Goetia as a General in her quest to gain more of everything and to rise among the ranks of demons.

But then she is defeated by Samayoi and is forced to merge her soul with his in order to survive. She clings to his life, and lies to him, hiding her identity in order to keep living. She comes to the conclusion that she could achieve her goals, by using Samayoi. She will lead Samayoi and push him towards revenge to gain more power, and when the moment is right, she will steal control of his body from him and take all his power for herself. Because of this plan of hers, she regards Samayoi less as a person and equal, and more as a tool she needs, but otherwise beneath her, even though he bested her in combat.

For her plan to succeed, she hides her sinister feelings and thoughts of Samayoi from him, and displays a friendly, affable, and intimate persona. Though it only works so much, as much of her regular personality come through, especially in reaction to Samayoi and his disregard of her. She tells Samayoi that she is but a weak helpless demon forever bound to him, and that they should get used to each other, to his dismay. But eventually, both Samayoi and Alice warm up to their predicament, and get used to the other's presence. This is how their relationship is and starts from by the first chapter of the game.

As the game goes on and the story advances, this relationship of their, getting used to each other, fighting together, surviving together, begins to bloom into a more honest friendship. As they become more comfortable with each other, Alice begins to see him in a new light and not as just a useful tool. As Samayoi reveals more about himself, his feelings, and inner conflict about this quest for revenge they are both on, Alice helps him understand himself and sympathizes with what he is going through. She starts to like him as an actual person.

At about the halfway point of the game, before unlocking Demon Fusion, Alice realizes she cannot go through with her plan anymore. She sees Samayoi as an actual friend and comrade after everything they have been through the past three years. She sympathizes with his plight and quest for revenge, and respects him as an equal. This also grows a sliver of guilt inside her for what she has done to him and his friends, and for planning use him for more power. By the end of this game, this guilt grows as she continues to work with Samayoi while lying to him about who she really is.

For multiple reasons, being a demon, instinctively believing she is better than Samayoi, and not wanting to admit such things to herself or Samayoi, she convinces herself that she is just protecting a precious possession or underling that has helped a lot, and isn't worth sacrificing. After unlocking Demon Fusion together with Samayoi, she works whole heartedly with Samayoi to achieve his revenge out of feelings fellowship and guilt, and will fight to protect both herself, and her “precious possession”.

Visuals

Physical attributes: Average height and a slim build for a young adult azzuwan woman. As an Imp, possess crimson red skin, horns, claws, fangs, small bat wings at the waist, and a tail. Has gold yellow eyes and silver hair.

Movement: Floats and flies like a ghost when appearing to Samayoi. Uses quick, and practiced hand gestures to utilize spells and magic.

Clothing: Wears very little clothing and prefers it that way, mostly just accessories and cloths that cover her private parts.

Weapons/Paraphernalia: Doesn't use any weapons. Fights with her body and magic, most casting spells of dark and demonic magic.

Casting/Audio

Voice age: 25

Reference actor(s): Allegra Clark, Elizabeth Maxwell

Accent: No accent

Other Notes: Alice is purposefully very playful with her speech and dialogue. Often, she would try to get inside Samayoi's head and influence his decisions. Whether through persuasion, seduction, or throwing a fit (usually unintentional however). She often falls into calling Sam by all sorts of insulting childish names. She loves making jokes and innuendo at Sam's expense, but is willing to get serious and direct if the situation demands it.

Sample, defining dialogue lines:

“Now, Listen to me Sam. As you are now, there is now way you can kill Asahi. But, if you kill more demons and humans, and absorb their power. Little by little, we can get ever closer to killing Asahi and all of Goetia. So, kill, kill to your heart's content, then kill some more. Remember, this is all payback for every friend and family you lost that day. So, don't hold back.”

“You know, you have such a stick up your ass Sam. Is this how you get your sick kicks off, not that I'm one to judge.”

“Heeeey, Blockhead... Hey! Sam, I'm talking to you! Pay attention to me!”

“You ever get all hot and bothered with all that training you do?”

“I'm boooored, let's go kill something.”

“You're always so pent up, why don't you just go to a brothel or something... Hey! I'm kidding, I'm kidding. Can't you take a joke.”

"Hmm, you really must like polishing swords. You should go around and polish every man's sword in the barracks, they'll really love that."

"T-this is too funny. Sam, you have a horrible sense of humor."

"Hey! be careful there! Are you trying to kill us both, Moron!?"

"Listen here, Numbskull. All you have to do is follow my orders! You would have never gotten this far without my help."

"Oh, kinky."

"What an asshole. Why don't we do him a favor, and take his pretty little life off his hands. We can keep his belongings too. What do say?"

"You really gave it that that guy, huh? Split him apart with your long, hard, Blade. Pierced him your rod of blazing justice. Made him submit to-mrffmbgmh." (Sam physically covering her mouth)

"You know, Sam. You're lucky that it was me that saved your life that day. A beautiful, intelligent, and don't forget powerful demon, such as myself."

"Sam, Sam look! Over at that shop! That beautiful jewel incrusted vase. Let's go, I must have it!

"Heey, No fair! You said you're buy me anything I wanted, so why can't I get this necklace! What do you mean I can't even wear it, so what?!"

"Hey, Sam. You that pattern in that tree over there? Doesn't it look like- What? Come on! I wasn't going to say anything inappropriate!"

"Elizabeth is a shrewd saleswoman; though she is too secretive for my liking. We should see what she is selling at her shop."

"A Half-demon Blacksmith, huh? His work should be proficient enough for our needs. You probably could learn much from him, Sam, on the ways of the sword."

"This village has a lot farm land, I wonder if they have any Cocks... what? A Cock, you know, a Rooster. Sheesh get your mind out of the Gutter."

"Oh, come on Sam. When have I ever been wrong?"

"Look, look Sam! Treasure! There's treasure, let's get it!"

"Blasted! You useless oaf! Don't die on me yet, Sam!"

"Sam? Sam! Are you alright, are you okay!? W-what! me, worried! I wasn't worried! I-I was just... concerned I would lose a useful servant! That's all!"

"Sam, you know what I told you before, about killing, ignore what I said. While there is obstacles in our way we will have no choice to confront with violence, you don't have to push yourself and cause more bloodshed then necessary. You are already plenty strong enough accomplish your revenge. And even if you are not, I'll be right there by your side to help."

"Hey hurry it up, Nincompoop. Rollan isn't going to save itself."

“You’re real funny sometimes, you know that. I don’t think I’ll ever get tired of having you around.”